ORAL JUDGEMENT

Heard the learned counsel for the parties.

The Special Civil Application No.791/80 has already been dismissed. In view of the dismissal of the aforesaid Special Civil Application, in substance, nothing now survives in this Special Civil Application. In fact, this Special Civil Application stood disposed of on 21st December, 1981 when interim order was passed. The petitioners were directed to be given relief by this Court in terms of Para No.13(b). Para No.13(b) reads as under:

Yours Lordships will be pleased to direct the 2nd respondent to grant annual-increment, other benefits viz. medical reimbursement, leave travel concession, leave encashment etc. which have already been accrued to the petitioners.

So the petitioners were given all the reliefs which they prayed for by way of interim relief. However, the promotions given were subject to the decision of the Special Civil Application No.791/80 and of this petition. So when the Special Civil Application No.791/80 has been dismissed, now no hurdle whatsoever remains in their way in getting all the benefits as prayed in Para No.13(b) of this Special Civil Application.

In view of the dismissal of the Special Civil Application No.791/80 and the interim relief granted by this Court in this petition on 21st December, 1981, this petition has become infructuous. Order accordingly. This Special Civil Application and rule stands disposed of accordingly.
